And here is Djwhal Khul's latest channelled message:

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek!

I would like to begin with the violet flame, 7th ray violet flame coming up through the body to transmute all energies that are not of the Divine, or all energies that might be in your energy field that are other than Pure Spirit. So it can transmute for example, maybe a negative thought that you have or an emotional situation that has been bothering you, health concerns, anything that does not align with the higher potential is dissolved with the use of the violet colour and particularly with the violet flame.

Let's begin next with a golden white light coming in through the crown chakra and here we see literally a river of light flowing through the body, as wide as the body, an entire river of golden white, just flowing through. It should begin to really make the cellular level of the body start to tingle, or buzz a little bit and respond to the strong flow of energies.

This is a time to affirm daily that you stand in the flow of the Divine light, that you are Divine light flowing with creation and that you are invoking the highest good for humanity.

We have passed the sacred Wesak moon. That Wesak ceremony is available at the website for listening, if you want to go there at www.terrinenewlon.com. Then there will be more information coming in just a little while, transcript and what not. You can get into, well I think the full story of Wesak is also there. Feel the energy of Wesak, just intuitively, that it is a very important time for all light workers, world servers, and we'll come upon the next new moon and the next full moon, which also falls in May, so it's a blue moon and in this window of time, keep flowing that golden white light, aligning with the Divine, asking that all members of humanity be aligned with the Divine and trusting that humanity reaches enlightenment, that humanity awakens and sings from the heart, that humanity understands that it is time to take action toward good.

Humanity is stirring now and they want guidance or direction rather than just awakening and feeling hopeless or that there is too much to do all at once or that they need to spend time to be angry about the past first before they get constructive. We keep this Divine flow going, really feel that golden white flowing through the body and in this way you serve as a guiding light, just a non verbal reminder that there is a Divine plan that one can go with the flow and be aligned with creation or one can struggle against it.

And of course we want humanity as they awaken, as their souls are touching them now, as their souls are wanting to dwell in their physical bodies, we want them to be reminded of the vast spiritual support system, of the existence of the Spiritual Hierarchy and the Planetary Logos, the Office of the Christ, and all the light workers and world servers on the etheric level as well as the physical level.

Angels should be more visible during this time period because, again, they are reminding people of their connection with the Divine and you might also find that you are getting more guidance than normal.

Alright, now, there's probably one area in your consciousness that has been a little bit resistant or a bit of a challenge for you over I'd say the last 4 years or so. Just intuitively ask yourself what is that one area? That could be your solar plexus, it could be your eyesight, it could be a financial condition, it could be a relationship issue, one area for about the last four years that has been a challenge or an obstacle, or in any other way been affecting you about that time period, and then we are going to breathe into that area and just let it go in the Divine flow of golden white light.

Now golden white is a healing light, a local Christed healing light and a Cosmic Christed healing light. Combined together they are very, very powerful. So just let that one area go, just let it slide into the light and be gone. Good.

Alright. And this has been your weekly spirituality article.

As always, thank you and I send my love to you

Djwhal Khul
