And here is Djwhal Khul's latest weekly spirituality article:

“Imagine the best possible outcome and Be a conduit for Spirit”

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

A very warm Tibetan greeting to you. It is greeting the happy auspicious you, already in perfection.

All right then. We are going to talk a little bit about the effects of having been through strong lessons, or challenges, recently and how you can begin to set your intent now towards positive outcome. Now simply the question: “what is the best possible outcome?” should be one that you ask yourself and then also whenever you expand beyond the self into the realm of the Universe and you ask for assistance at that level, then you create that Law of Attraction that is giving you so much more than you could conceive on your own. So you can say:

“Creation, show me the best possible outcome.” Or “Universe, show me the many outcomes and the best possible one for me”.

So you are reaching beyond the confines of your own mind and asking for the entire potential of creation to bring it back to you.

We have some astrological influences that have been very challenging for most people; primarily Pluto impacting and also somewhat Saturn. But you have other figures in the mix here and different timetables. So we are nearing an earth completion; so a little bit longer.

And now is the time to start imagining the best possible outcome, feeling that best possible outcome. See if you can taste it and smell it and really put as much energy into the best possible outcome as you can.

All right. Let's work with a spiral of light coming down from above, spiraling into the crown chakra, kind of like a roto-router there, spiraling all the way down the body. You are clearing your channel, you are clearing your vessel to be "hallowed in thy name" or to be a clear vessel for Spirit, a clear vessel for Divine Intent and just keep seeing that spiral coming down and hollowing out the body and see it happening again and then again. So you literally can reach up with your hands and sort of spiral above your head and spiral down in front of your body to give it a little bit more power.

What we are doing is clearing the channel so you are a conduit for creation and then again, keep your mind, your body, your emotions, all of your consciousness focused on the best possible outcome or the most positive outcome. You will get quite a bit of longevity from that during this time period. It is literally as if the planetary configurations are going "Well how much was learned? Did the school of hard knocks teach anything? Do we need to progress onto a stronger lesson" or can we say "lesson complete in the best possible outcome"?

So you literally want to feed to the Universe, feed to Creation, that you are ready and that you have been through your trials, your little bumps and bruises, or stronger in many cases. It has been a very challenging time for many people; physically or health wise, financially, relationships. A lot of old structures breaking down, a lot of harsh realities being shown to many members of humanity. So again, what you are declaring to the Universe is: "I have learned it, I am now turning a new leaf". Maybe your lesson was very specific and I would say you do need to know what you are being taught and change your ways. That's the bottom line there.

"I've got the message, I have changed my ways, I have improved and now I want the best possible outcome".

So keep working on that, dear ones, and you have all the support from the Spiritual Hierarchy, Angelic Kingdom, and many, many, many lightworkers. There are literally legions of light flooding through you so long as you keep your vessel open to Spirit.

All right. This has been your weekly spirituality article. I hope that you enjoyed the message and that you perhaps learned one or two new things. Thank you and my love to you.
