And here is Djwhal Khul's latest Spirituality Article, information complimentary every Thursday:

(Channeling begins)

Djwhal Khul here. Tashi Delek.

Alright. I want to work with the energy of the hummingbird, specifically the blue green color and the green violet color that you find in some of the hummingbird feathers. Then we are also going to work with the JOY aspect of the hummingbird and that sort of relentless energy, sort of endless energy, constantly moving, constantly using angelic wing presence. An interesting note in nature that nothing preys on a hummingbird, there are no predators.

So we want to tune into that blue green hummingbird color and the blue green violet hummingbird color. Begin to wear it in your auric field. Feel the JOY and the energy circulating through the body and then let all the cares drop away.

Feel the true JOY. You might even feel the little bit of fluttering or hear the humming of the hummingbird internally, as you mix your energies with it.

They very much enjoy the interaction with humans. That is why they are often putting a nest where the humans can easily see it, sometimes maybe not so much in a convenient location, maybe right above your front porch light or at the entrance to the front door in a tree or a shrub or something. So caution: when you have a nest nearby, maybe use an alternate route and let the hummingbirds raise their young.

Alright. One more time, really tune into those colors and specifically the blue green color and now the green violet. Then we might put just a little extra, this is JOY in the third eye center.

Alright. Enjoy hummingbird energy and contemplate how one might use this energy as a form of enlightenment or as a parallel path of enlightenment. It would be a very good discussion.

As always, thank you and my love to you,

Djwhal Khul
